The College.

There is no doubt some anxiety to know what has been done about the College. We only have to say that on next Tuesday, Dec. 18th, we expect a deed will be made for the property, and then earnest praying, work and paying until the Brethren church has the institution free of debt.

The Whiskey Congress.

"The War of the Rebellion," said General Daniel E. Sickles the other evening in New York, "was really a whiskey war. Yes, whiskey caused the rebellion. I was in the Congress preceding the war. It was whiskey in the morning—the morning cocktail—a Congress of whiskey drinkers. Then whiskey all day; whiskey and gambling all night. Drinks before Congress opened its morning session, drinks before it adjourned. Scarcely a committee room without its demijohn of whiskey, and the clink of the glasses could be heard in the capitol corridors. The fights—the angry speeches—were whiskey. The atmosphere was redolent with whiskey—nervous excitement seeking relief in whiskey, and whiskey adding to nervous excitement. Yes, the rebellion was launched in whiskey. If the French assembly were to drink some morning one-half the whiskey consumed in any one day by that Congress, France would declare war against Germany in twenty minutes."

What Gen. Sickles says in reference to our whiskey guzzling Congress before the rebellion is more or less true today. Why not, if the G. O. P. had a whiskey bill of $5000 to pay at the Chicago Convention, and perhaps twice that amount at the St. Louis Convention by the Democrats. When the whiskey boys furnish a great portion of the boodle and a majority of the votes you could not expect that the congressmen and parties thus elected would go back on their friends and allies. They not only patronize the nefarious and ungodly business themselves, but pass laws that grant license to distillers and brewers to manufacture and sell to every land and nation. Although the people pray and remonstrate, and in certain localities succeed in having local option and getting the saloons closed. Our national government furnishes to their friends, the distillers and brewers, a government jug license to flood every town and neighborhood with this accursed plague, to which all other plagues, war, pestilence and famine, compare as a mole hill to a mountain.

The party that will outlaw and abolish whiskey drinking and gambling, not at Meyersdale or at Ashland, but in the White House, in the National Capitol in Washington City, which is controlled by acts of Congress, that will expel every Congressman and Senator or government official for getting drunk, will be the party that should and will have the support of every Christian and right-minded citizen of our highly favored country, and until we get a party that will assume this duty and responsibility our government will be corrupt, in danger of anarchy and revolution, fostering the greatest evil in the world.

A few years ago, when Cleveland was installed as Chief Officer of the nation, it was promised that a reform should be inaugurated, and I believe as long as his sister was the controlling spirit at the White House, wine was not allowed on their tables, at least drunkenness was not encouraged and endeavored to be made respectable by her patronage.

What we, the temperance people, ask of Gen. Harrison, the President elect, of his friends and representatives, is to abolish the saloon in our national capitol. Thousands of temperance people and Prohibitionists voted the Republican ticket, because they believed the General at the head of the ticket to be a representative Christian gentleman and a pronounced temperance man, and it is now the prayer of thousands of men and tens of thousands of women, that he will use his great influence and best endeavor after he is inaugurated, to have this national sin and abomination removed from our capitol and nation. To the accomplishment of this end do we labor, and pray the Lord of all wisdom to guide and inspire the Executive and Representatives of the American people to give us the Home Protection. And thus we pray.

Where Was "The Place Called Calvary?"

From an illustrated article under the above title by Rev. Dr. Charles S. Robinson, in the November Century, we quote the following:

The only representative site for Calvary now offered pilgrims in Jerusalem is found in a couple of rooms inside the old edifice—one is owned and exhibited by the Greeks, another by Latins. These share the same disability; both—since the church is already so full of traditions on the ground floor—had to go up a flight of stairs into free space nearer the roof. And there it is, amidst tawdry curtains and gilt bedizenments of candles and altar-shrines, that this ancient spot upon which the cross of Jesus Christ rested is pointed out, and the veritable hole is shown in which it was planted; and the thieves' crosses—a decorous but rather inadequate distance of five feet between them on the right and left of the middle one—are ranged alongside; and down under neath, far below across some intervening space left by grading away the actual soil of the hill, so we were eagerly told, is the grave of Adam. Tradition has related that at the crucifixion of Jesus some drops of blood fell through upon Adam's skull and raised him suddenly to life; and there are commentators who declare that so the prophecy quoted by the apostle Paul (Ephesians 5: 14) was well fulfilled: "Awake, thou Adam that sleepest [for thus the former versions read in the text], and arise from the dead, for Christ shall touch thee." The art-people say that this is the origin of the fact that in those early rude representations of the death of our Lord a skull is introduced.

Can any man of sensibility be blamed if he makes an imperious demand that something more—something else at least—shall greet him in answer to his question, Where was our Lord crucified? If there should be no other advantage gained by the acceptance of a new site as now proposed, this would be enough: it would put an end to the awkward and offensive impostures daily exhibited under the roof of that filthy old church. They are a standing mockery of the claims of the Christianity they profess to uphold. Those ceremonies of Easter at the tomb where our Lord is declared to have been buried are a caricature of an event so glad and holy. The struggle around the flames that are chemically forced out of the smoky hole in the sepulcher, so that devotees in frantic zeal may light their lamps, brings death from the trampling of thousands, fills the house with howls that put heathenism to shame, and sends true believers away with an infinite disgust and horror deep in their hearts. How long must such a scandal be patiently endured?—Sel.

The recent cyclones in the South and West have done terrible damage to life and property, but there's one comfort left—the people clamor for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

How To Use Sachet Powders.

BY MRS. M. E. LAMBERT.

Just now at the approach of the holiday season there is a general desire or craze for sachet powders, those dainty yet luxurious perfumes which are easily and effectually used in all the novel creations for home decoration, and even in charming dress fancies.

Dozens of methods have been recently introduced, in which these delicate and refined odors may be utilized. Every lady has her pot-pourri jar in which she throws the petals of fragrant blossoms, and a choice variety of the delightful sachet powders added to the other sweet scents, convert the moss into a regular chasmere bouquet.

The sachet powders can be correctly placed in everything made with lining or in each article to which a tiny sachet-bag can be secured or fastened by a loop, bow, or knot of ribbon.

In satin covered, richly decorated down pillows the powders may be thickly scattered, in sofa sachet-bags with hand painted designs, in hanging bags, in pin cushions, in linen table covers, window, piano and mantel lambrequins, in lamp mats, and also in decorated panels of satin, plush, or velvet painted or embroidered.

Bosom sachet-bags are used in place of the bag of camphor to prevent the taking of infectious disease, and ladies now carry lovely bags in which their handkerchiefs and scent bottles may be placed, and later on all the fancy muffs of silk, satin, velvet, plush and lace, will be scented with the favorite perfume of the owner.

Quaint ornaments for the corners of chairs are laden with perfumes, and perfectly charming are the clusters of small bags in various colors, in bits of ribbons, plush or velvet, suspended by narrow ribbons from lace curtains or gas fixtures.

Then there are boxes made for holding gentleman's collars and cuffs satin lined and perfumed and brush cases, glove cases, mouchoir cases, fancy slippers for bed room, night-dress cases, jewel cases, and beautiful cases for holding photographs or fancy pictures.

The new book covers for protecting the outside of valuable books are perfumed and so are baby baskets, work baskets and other dainty baskets, or hanging fancies for holding scraps or odds and ends in bed rooms or library.

The most lasting and delicate powders are Colgate & Co's Cashmere Bouquet, Caprice, Heliotrope, West End, White Rose, Violet and Ylang-Ylang.

If you cannot obtain these Powders send to Colgate & Co., 55 John Street, New York, 25 cents in stamps, and they will mail you a package of Powder sufficient to perfume several holiday gifts.
